MSU Brick Breeden ~ Three Forks Rodeo Bleacher Wood Frames

The wood for these frames began as indoor bleachers in the Brick Breeden Field house at MSU Bozeman. Built in 1957 it was the largest free standing dome in the world. In the 1980s the bleachers were replaced and donated to the outdoor rodeo grounds in Three Forks. In 2006 they finally were salvaged and now they continue to live in history as frames for our original Montana Photographs. Joined together with wooden dowels and iron bolts, the holes and scratches remain. We reinforce our corners with rustic tin from a schoolhouse in Clarkston, old leather from Harrison, copper and other unique touches. Imagine the lives and rear ends that have passed over these weathered timbers, the tales they could tell. Many of us have watched our kids grow sitting on this old fir ~ basketball, rodeos, concerts, graduations and a circus or two. When this wood is gone there will be no more. Own a bit of Gallatin Valley History.
